Awards for projects I supervised:
	One of my main objectives in teaching is to upgrade my students' capabilities and product to the highest competitive level. So I was keen to make them join students' projects competitions and help them to put their work in the required format. I also encourage them to participate in professional level completions.
2005	Two of my design 7 student won Prince Mohamed award for the best ecological project , they are Muzon Ashgar and Manal Al-Ansari.
2009	In I give the chance for five of my students one student, Fatmah Al-Dukhi, and three fresh graduates TAs, Aisha Abdulazim, Asma Al-Helal, and Reem Al-Baadi, joined my design team in Al-Haram Tawaf comption and the team were rewarded in 2009.
2013	Two of my student won the best Research award in King Abdullah national Conference for higher education . Nouf Al-Barak won the 1st prize (the Golden Feather) and Mohja Al-Abdullah won the 3rd prize . It must be said that both of these students did their researches under my supervision when they were in the 1 st term in their 1 st year. It was very challenging to guide beginners' students that know nothing about design to reach the level of doing a research about design and qualified to win such a national completion.
2013	Ten of our department students won the first three position of Prince Sultan bin Salman for Urban Heritage . Seven of them were my design 9 students. Hifa AlArifi, Norihan Deiaz, and Amal Al-Maleh with one project; and Raneem Al-Saleem, Semah Al-Abdugaber, Shahd AlSuabi, and Najla Al-Bueneen with another project, shared the 2 nd prize in the competition.

All of my students and the University proudly shared the prize
2015	One of my Master Degree, Alaa Algargoush, end up her thesis with designing a sound diffusers that was developed and inspired from cymatic shapes. The research tile is: "Improving the Indoor Sound Quality by Using Cymatic Shapes". This diffuser acquired two patents (USA & KSA) that was shared among the student and the two supervisors, Dr. Hany Hosam Aldeen and myself.

Area of Interest

Despite of my architecture academic background, my true passion is TEACHING, in the education of design and visual arts. I have been an active member in the design discipline for the last 32 years. I am teaching courses essential to the design curriculum areas with a philosophy asserts that creativity is a cultural product, yet it reflects the depth and maturely of a particular culture. My experiences of countless classroom educators support the view that design and the visual arts have strong constructive cognitive, emotional, social and collaborative effects on the society and its members. I argue that art and the society that produce it are inseparable, and there is always a way to bring the best creative capabilities' out of my students if I triggered this relationship.

Lately my researches interests' went beyond this and focused on the how to trigger this collaboration in the brains of visual arts and design students by utilizing their natural built-in brain capabilities. These can be considered pioneer researches in applying brain based learning in teaching Design, a subject that needs to deal with inelegance, creativity and talent and at the same time influenced by cultural and social context. The output of this studies are intended to provide an introductory outline of brain based learning for arts and design educators to help them selecting the methodologies that will maximize learning and enhance their students creativity progressive stages. It may open doors or serves as a guidepost for researchers or educators who are interested in implementing brain-compatible teaching for arts and design.
