Workflow diagram

- » The beneficiary obtains the form from the page of the Deanship of Scientific Research. (University home page, administration, deanships, deanship of scientific research, forms, form for facilitating the task of a researcher outside the university (DSR 015) or the form for facilitating the task of a researcher within the university (DSR 016).

- » The form is filled out by the beneficiary.

- » After the application is filled out by the beneficiary, the application is sent to the Deanship of Scientific Research dsr@iau.edu.sa.

- » When the application arrives at a researcher's task facilitation unit, the beneficiary's application data is checked for completeness.
 - | If it is not completed, the application is resent to the beneficiary to complete the data and re-sent it again after the request data is completed.

 - | If completed, it will move to the next step.

- » When confirming the completeness of the application data, it is ensured that the conditions and requirements for the beneficiary are met, which include (a certificate of moral approval if the application is inside the university, or a letter from the university and a certificate of moral approval - if any - from outside the university).
 - | If the conditions and requirements are not met, the beneficiary will be notified of the application rejection via e-mail.

 - | If it is satisfied, move to the next step.

- » When it is confirmed that the conditions and requirements for the beneficiary are met, the application form is sent to the Dean of Scientific Research.

- » The application form is signed by the dean and the beneficiary's questionnaire is baptized.
